A Philanthropic Team Program Constructive Collaboration

“Playhouses for Tots” provides a teambuilding session designed to showcase constructive collaboration and collective imagination. The Nuhop Center provides all building materials, a detailed set of instructions, and thematic possibilities. Teams of 4-6 participants coordinate to build and decorate a playhouse for underprivileged children. The pace is fast and fun and the outcomes are many. Teams relate by choosing roles, dividing tasks, and forging individual parts into a cohesive whole.

During this session each team is given a description of a child in need. Once the child’s description is given, teams are charged with the task of building and painting a custom backyard playhouse based on the child’s life story and interests. Certain building materials are earned by participating in engaging team development exercises. Each exercise is carefully chosen to meet your learning objectives. Come build your team while helping a child in need!
